

Supporting Good Food Enterprise in a Sustainable Food City

This workshop will:

- Cover basics of different social and community enterprises business models
- Share successful initiatives to support good food start-ups, including Feeding the City run by Impact Hub and GCDAs food business work, Sheffield's regather and other Bristol-based initiatives
- Discuss how best to support and work with start-up and existing food enterprises and what training and support is needed vs available.
- Explore what potential programmes could support good food enterprise and how it might link with SFC partnerships.