WHAT IS THE TOWER HAMLETS FOOD PARTNERSHIP?

We are a network of organisations and individuals taking action for good food for everyone in the London Borough of Tower Hamlets.

By good, we mean that food in Tower Hamlets is:

Celebrated – we recognise that nutritious food can make healthier neighbourhoods and happier people, and celebrate diverse food traditions.

Fair – we want everyone – including our vulnerable and low-income communities – to be able to access nutritious, tasty, culturally-appropriate food with dignity.

Community-led – our communities are empowered to develop and share good food knowledge, resources and projects, and be part of a thriving local food economy.

Healthier for people and planet – our food system nurtures human health, supports the welfare of animals, plants and soil, avoids waste and reduces the emissions contributing to climate change.

The partnership comprises multiple organisations and individuals concerned with food, including housing providers, food charities, small businesses, schools, social enterprises, community gardeners and the council.

We are hosted by Women’s Environmental Network (Wen), a charity supporting women, and their communities, to take action for a healthier planet. Women are at the forefront of food, both domestically and as activists for change. Our innovative perspective helps women to establish healthy and socially just food systems.

We are part of Sustainable Food Cities, a network of places across the UK working on local food systems around six themes:

1. Promoting healthy and sustainable food to the public
2. Tackling food poverty, diet-related ill health and access to affordable healthy food
3. Building community food knowledge, skills, resources and projects
4. Promoting a vibrant and diverse sustainable food economy
5. Transforming catering and food procurement
6. Reducing waste and the ecological footprint of the food system

“Food is not only at the heart of some of our greatest problems but is also a vital part of the solution.”

Sustainable Food Cities
What we know about food in Tower Hamlets

Our inner-London borough continues to be one of the fastest growing, youngest, and most diverse populations in the UK.

Key Strengths

- A vibrant community sector...
- A diverse population with varied culinary traditions...
- Above-average amounts of social housing...
- Celebrated food markets, and other opportunities to buy affordable produce, often within walking distance...
- Abundant opportunities to eat multicultural, multifaith food, such as street food stalls and pop-ups...
- Multiple community food-growing projects...
- Healthy, ethical and environmentally friendly food served in many schools...
- Cafes, restaurants and takeaway businesses encouraged to use healthier cooking processes.

Key Challenges

- High levels of adult and child food insecurity
- High levels of child poverty
- High proportion of children eligible for free school meals
- High reliance on emergency food, such as food banks
- High density of fast food outlets
- High levels of childhood obesity
- High levels of air pollution
- High levels of food waste

Our evidence

To develop this Action Plan, we gathered evidence on the food system in Tower Hamlets in a number of ways:

- Know your food system - our academic partner guided 6 postgraduate students through a detailed assessment of the current food situation
- Community research - community researchers investigated how communities respond to food insecurity.
- Focus groups - our academic partner discussed opportunities and challenges related to food with communities across the borough.
- Member survey - our members contributed their perspectives on local opportunities and challenges, and developing THF priorities.
- Food Poverty Action Plan and Joint Strategic Needs Assessment - we engaged communities and Partnership members to co-develop these LB Tower Hamlets policy documents.

Know Your Food System:

- 1 academic
- 6 researchers
- 12 months
- 50 partnerships and 100 papers and studies analysed
OUR VISION FOR FOOD IN TOWER HAMLETS

CELEBRATED
Nutritious food is a leading element of our streets, estates and neighbourhoods. People feel happier, healthier and proud of their communities.

FAIR FOR ALL
Everyone – including our vulnerable and low-income communities – can access nutritious, tasty, culturally-appropriate food with dignity.

COMMUNITY-LED
Our communities are empowered to develop and share diverse food knowledge, resources and projects, and be part of a thriving local food economy.

HEALTHIER FOR PEOPLE AND PLANET
Our food system nurtures human health, supports the welfare of animals, plants and soil, avoids waste and reduces the emissions contributing to climate change.
WHAT WE PLAN TO DO
CELEBRATED

SUMMARY

One third of the 300,000 residents of Tower Hamlets are Bangladeshi. Around one third of residents principally use one of 90 languages other than English.

This diversity creates a multitude of cooking and eating cultures which should be shared and celebrated. Many people throughout our community have incredible food and health knowledge and skills, and others are keen to learn more about making good food on low budgets.

But unhealthy food is never far away: 97% residents live within ten minutes of a fast-food outlet, and retailers of all sizes promote products high in fat, sugar and salt.

We want to promote and celebrate the businesses that champion nutrition and affordability, and spread knowledge and skills about eating for health and well-being amongst our communities.

WHO SHOULD BE INVOLVED

- Council
- Faith groups
- Housing providers
- City farms
- Schools
- Community centres

FAIR FOOD FOR ALL

SUMMARY

Poverty affects millions of people in the UK. Low-paying employment and an inefficient benefits system are common causes, while hunger is a likely consequence.

Greater London Authority research has found that one in five adults and 400,000 children in London struggle to get enough to eat for themselves and their families. The people most likely to be affected are those on low incomes, 16-24-year-olds, single parents and those with disabilities.

As a partnership, we will focus on the areas of the borough where people are most vulnerable to hunger. In those areas, we will increase access to food that is both healthy and affordable in a range of settings.

WHO SHOULD BE INVOLVED

- Council
- Food banks
- Surplus food charities
- Housing providers
- Community centres
- Small businesses
- Markets
- Youth services
- Advice centres
- Health services e.g. midwives
- Schools and children’s centres

WHERE WE CAN HAVE MOST IMPACT

- Listening to and sharing the voices of our communities
- Helping people buy, cook and share affordable food
- Directing surplus food when and where it is needed

GOOD FOOD FOR HEALTHIER PEOPLE AND PLANET

SUMMARY

We are facing a climate emergency, a fact that Tower Hamlets council recognised in March 2019. At the same time, there is growing evidence of the effect of poor diet on our nation’s health.

While food can nurture human health and support environmental sustainability, our current system threatens both.

Personal consumption is key: eating more fruit and veg, nuts, seeds and grains, and fewer animal fats could improve health AND lead to a 30 per cent reduction in consumption-related greenhouse gases.

We also want to drastically reduce the amount of food waste that goes to landfill in a way that benefits businesses, residents, growers and the council.

WHO SHOULD BE INVOLVED

- Tower Hamlets council
- Community growers
- Developers
- Housing providers
- Community centres
- Markets

WHERE WE CAN HAVE MOST IMPACT

- Encourage public institutions to move to more sustainable catering
- Designing a collaborative system for tackling food waste
GOOD FOOD FOR HEALTHIER PEOPLE AND PLANET - actions to nurture human health, support environmental sustainability and design out food waste
